Leaders: Don't feel pressured to get through every question during your group time. Our hope is that your group experiences honest conversation & goes deeper in God's Word—not that you finish the entire list. Feel free to choose the questions that best fit the needs of your group & allow the Holy Spirit to guide your discussion.

1. We often speak as though our bodies are something we own rather than part of who we are. How does Paul's statement, "The Lord is for the body," challenge the way you think about your body and its future?
2. The sermon says, "Through our bodies, we do more than express our feelings. We give ourselves to one another." How does that help you understand baptism?
3. Read Acts 2:36–38. What brought the crowd to ask, "What shall we do?" What does Peter's answer teach us about responding to Jesus?
4. Repentance means surrendering our claim to be in charge. Where do you find that surrender most difficult, and what might repentance look like in practice?
5. Read Colossians 2:12. How does Paul bring baptism, faith, and God's work together? How would you explain why receiving grace through baptism does not mean earning salvation?
6. Read Romans 6:3–4. How could remembering your baptism change the way you face temptation, failure, or discouragement this week?
7. In Acts 10:44–48, Cornelius's household receives the Holy Spirit before being baptized, and Peter still commands baptism. How does this account challenge assumptions you have held about God's work and our response?
8. Following Jesus more fully can mean reconsidering something we inherited from people we love. How can we honor those who nurtured our faith while allowing Scripture to correct our understanding?
9. The Ethiopian asks, "What can stand in the way of my being baptized?" What fears, questions, or loyalties might keep someone from responding? How can we help without pressuring them?
10. The sermon ends, "Body and soul. Head to toe. All in." What is your next step in responding to Jesus—and how can this group support you in taking it?
